Truman Flies West For World Charter

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — President Truman left by plane at 8:20 a. m. today for a West Coast visit he will climax by attending the San Francisco United Nations Security Conference. The President planned an 11-hour non-stop flight to Olympia, Wash., where he will pay a social visit to Gov. Mon C. Wallgren before going to address the closing session of the conference.

The President was given a cheery sendoff by Gen. Eisenhower, whose plane, the "Sunflower," rested just behind the President's special C-54.

Others in the small group at the runway included Acting Sec. of State Grew and Sec. of the Treasury Morgenthau.

The President paused at the top of the ramp leading to his plane to wave to photographers. He asked if they wanted him to say, "fiddle sticks," recalling the remarks of his 92-year-old mother as she alighted from a plane a few weeks ago.

When the President alighted from his automobile, Gen. Eisenhower was already on hand. The Chief Executive said:

"I didn't know you could get up this early in the morning, Ike."

"Well, I had to, you know," Eisenhower replied.

The President's plane, the one which brought Eisenhower here yesterday from across the Atlantic, is piloted by the same eight-man crew that has been with her from the start. Her chief pilot is Lt. Col. Henry T. Myers of Tifton, Ga.

With the President in the big C-54 were his military and naval aides, Col. Harry Vaughan and Capt. James Zardman, Jr., Secretaries Matthew J. Connelly and Charles G. Ross, and J. Leonard Reinsch, radio adviser.

The President wore a gray suit and a light tan hat. He had on a striped blue shirt and a blue tie.

Two other planes are in the flight. The first, carrying secret service men, and the second, newsmen, cameramen and more secret service agents.

Although signs are growing that the delegates from 50 nations will not complete the writing of the charter until next week, Mr. Truman proceeded, the White House said, on the assumption the meeting could wind up this week.

The Chief Executive will fly the charter back to Washington and submit it immediately to the Senate in the hope of ratification before his meeting next month with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill to sketch the pattern for European peace terms.

Truman Urges Speaker Next in Presidency Line

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) — President Truman recommended legislation today placing the Speaker of the House first in order of succession to the presidency in case of vacancies in both the presidency and vice-presidency.

In a special message to both Houses of Congress, sent shortly after he took off for the West, the President said the question of succession "is of great importance now because there will be no elected Vice-President for almost four years."

Mr. Truman said the existing succession law, enacted in 1886, provides for members of the cabinet to take over the presidency in the event neither the elected President nor Vice-President can serve.

Pointing out that cabinet members are appointed by the President, Mr. Truman said it now lies within his power to nominate his immediate successor "in the event of my own death or inability to act."

"I do not believe that in a democracy this power should rest with the Chief Executive. Insofar as possible, the office of the President should be filled by an elective officer."

He recommended the Speaker be next in line of succession and that he should serve not longer than until the next congressional election or until a special election called to elect a new President and Vice-President.

This period the Congress should fix, he asserted. Individuals elected at such general or special election should then serve only to fill terms of the former President and Vice-President.

He said the Speaker should resign as a Representative in Congress as well as Speaker of the House before he assumes the Presidency.

He recommended further the succession pass to the president pro tempore of the Senate if there is no qualified Speaker or if the Speaker fails to qualify. The president pro tempore would hold the office only until a duly qualified Speaker can be elected.

Subs Sink 11 More Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) —United States submarines have sunk 11 more enemy ships, including two light combatant vessels, in Far Eastern waters, the Navy announced today.

The combatant ships were medium patrol vessels. Non-combatant vessels claimed in the latest toll were a medium cargo vessel, two medium tankers, a medium merchant vessel, two small cargo vessels, and three small merchant vessels.

The 11 raised to 1153 the total Japanese losses inflicted by United States submarines, including 138 combatant ships and 1015 non-combatant.

Poles at Trial Tell of War Against Reds

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, June 19 (AP)—Polish witnesses in the trial of 16 members of the Polish underground government and home army on a charge of fifth column activity told a Soviet court today they had wrecked trains, blown bridges, killed Russian soldiers and on one occasion hanged a Soviet citizen.

A journalist said the underground army's minister had directed that the Russian army be considered an "enemy" and an "aggressor."

Many witnesses said they belonged to the home army before and after the Russian occupation of Poland.

Jan Jankowski, deputy prime minister of the Polish London regime and leader of the Polish underground government, testified such diversions aided the Germans and hampered the United Nations, particularly Russia.

A witness who said he once lived in Detroit, Cheslaw Alexandrowich Latorewitz, gave direct evidence of attacking Russians.

"We were operating in a village," he said. "We saw a Russian car and we opened fire on it. Yes, fired, too."

He related another incident in which a driver was killed and told of other cases in which four persons were killed and Russian workers were fired on.

Stanislaw Kolonedo, another witness, said he was instructed 20 days on blowing up bridges, wrecking roads and communications. He said 100 were in his armed detachment.

"We got orders to derail all Red Army trains which were supposed to be sent into action against the Germans," he said. "I remember blowing up tracks near Nieman as a sort of protest against the Russians being in that area."

"My directives did not include this activity," Jankowski told the court. "The home army, I believe, gave those instructions . . . Well, it helped the Germans."

Another witness, France Urbanowice, leader of 25 riflemen, said his group aimed to create terror in the rear of the Red Army, principally among Russian officers but among civilians if necessary. He said his group fought Russian guerrillas after the Red Army drove out the Germans. He told of a Russian civilian being captured and hanged.

Yanks Dig Up 5 Billions In 2d Big Reich Gold Hoard

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, June 19 (AP)—American troops of the 12th Corps have found securities, gold and jewelry valued at more than $5,000,000,000 hidden by the Germans at Regensburg, communications zone headquarters announced today.

Included in the capture in hidden vaults of the Regensburg Reichsbank was the national wealth of Bavaria and Austria. The cache was more valuable than that found April 7 in the Merken salt mine, which included 200 tons of gold.

The treasure was in gold bullion, stolen jewelry and securities. Some was known to have been taken from victims of Nazi death camps.

The same corps made the original discovery in the same general area of central Germany the last days before the unconditional surrender of the enemy.

10th Army Drives Japs To Okinawa Suicide Cliff

By Associated Press

Veterans of Tarawa, brought in for the kill on Okinawa, spearheaded U. S. 10th Army forces today in driving demoralized Japanese toward suicide cliffs at the climax of the campaign that cost the life of the American commander, Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr.

The 58-year-old general was killed yesterday with conquest of Okinawa virtually completed.

The Okinawa ground campaign gained sudden momentum yesterday when Yanks broke through crumbling Jap defenses in all sectors.

Like gains were scored in every other battle area. Chinese reoccupied the port of Wenshow, 220 miles south of Shanghai, and drove to within 21 miles of Liuchow, key southeast China transportation center.

Australians broke into Touton oil refinery area in Sarawak, West Borneo territory ruled by the white Rajah, in a 25-mile advance since their June 10 invasion of Brunei bay.

Three U. S. divisions pushed toward north Luzon in major Philippines action.

Gen. MacArthur created a new supply command today for Army ground forces which will invade Japan.

Tokyo predicted Japan wouldn't be invaded until after "a long period of preliminary bombing," and reported there was still no sign of a third invasion of Borneo although Allied warships were continuing a bombardment of Balikpapan.

Gen. Buckner, highest ranking American officer killed in the Pacific war, was hit by a Jap shell as he watched the Eighth regimental combat team of the Second Marine Division slashing down western Okinawa.

Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, 60-year-old commander of the Third Marine amphibious corps, took over command of the balance of the Okinawa campaign.

The Eighth Marine regimental combat team was thrown in for the kill as Jap forces were driven to a narrowing slice of the southern Okinawa cliffs, and Adm. Nimitz confidently announced "the fall of Okinawa is imminent."

The Marines entered the western battle lines Sunday night, and pushed 600 yards before dawn. Shortly after daybreak a full battalion of of Japs fled from the Devil Dogs and were caught by American artillery as they ran across open ground.

Other Japs stood their ground, tumbling boulders or pouring flaming gasoline down on advancing infantrymen of the 96th Army division which drove across "Hari Kiri Plateau" to within a mile and a half of the southern tip of the island.

The Seventh Army division pressed in from the east behind tanks and self-propelled artillery which blasted Japs out of natural stone fortresses standing in the infantrymen's way.

In the northern Philippines the Japs got out of the way of the 37th Division which reached the broad Cagayan river in its rush up Cagayan valley toward the northern tip of Luzon island. Parallel advances against stubborn resistance were scored by the 6th and 33rd divisions.

Would Welcome Patton in Pacific, Says MacArthur

By LEE VAN ATTA

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, June 19 (INS)—Gen. MacArthur frankly expressed eagerness today to have "any good soldiers" assigned to his Pacific Army forces command.

In a forthright denial of published reports in the United States of his unwillingness to accept under his leadership certain skilled generals from the European theater, MacArthur declared:

"I would be delighted to have Gen. Patton and any or all other good soldiers, if they are available, assigned to this command."

MacArthur added grimly:

"I need all the help I can get!"

FD Escort Ship Lost at Okinawa

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) —The USS Emmons, which helped escort President Roosevelt to the Teheran Big Three conference, has been lost off Okinawa—victim of Jap suicide planes.

Hit by five Kamikazes within a few minutes, the Emons was so badly damaged she had to be sunk by sister ships 12 hours after the attack April 6. She suffered 139 casualties, including 59 killed, 78 wounded and two missing.

Formerly a destroyer, the Emmons was converted to a destroyer-minesweeper before she joined the Pacific fleet in January. The fatal engagement was her first in the Pacific and occurred as she and another minesweeper were operating off north Okinawa east of Ie Shima.

Lt. Com. Eugene N. Foss of Chestnut Hill, Mass., grandson of former Massachusetts Gov. Foss, was the Emmons' skipper and was wounded.

Survivors included Lt. Charles R. Williamson, the ship's doctor, whose wife, Mrs. Anne L. Williamson, resides at 39 Grove Hill pk., Newtonville, Mass.

Girl, 7, Identifies Navy Man as Auto Attacker

Warren A. Fulton, 28, navy machinist stationed at Camp Edwards, was charged with abuse of a female child today after 7-year-old Carol Vickery of Cohasset identified him at Rehoboth State Police barracks as the man who invited her for a ride June 15, then attacked her.

Police Chief Hector Pelletier of Cohasset was to confer with Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing on whether Fulton should also be charged with kidnaping. Pelletier said Fulton had confessed taking the child into his automobile, but denied harming her. He is to be arraigned in Quincy tomorrow.

Bail was set at $15,000.

Meanwhile, the unsolved murders of 10-year-old Frances McGrath in Scituate last June and Frances Cochran in Lynn four years ago were engaging renewed police attention.

The similarity of the attack on Frances McGrath with that alleged to have been made on Carol Vickery was such that Police Chief Michael Stewart of Scituate had Fulton under long questioning today.

Boston police were quizzing a 49-year-old South End restaurant counterman, who was arrested last night after allegedly boasting in a tavern he was the killer of the Cochran girl.

In the lineup this morning he denied having made such a statement and declared, "I don't know what this is all about."

The sailor in the Vickery case was arrested in Rehoboth yesterday after Walter Alburn, a garage proprietor, tipped police he had seen a car resembling that in which the little girl had ridden June 15. Fulton was questioned throughout the night by Chief Pelletier and state detectives.

They said he told of having been married twice, his first wife and their two children living in Grand Rapids, Mich., his present wife and daughter of four months in Lydia st., Providence.

State police said Fulton admitted serving time for assault and battery on his first wife and serving a year for an attempted jail break in Michigan.

Chief Stewart of Scituate police said the cooperation of the Navy would be requested in an effort to ascertain where Fulton was June 10, 1944, when the McGrath girl was kidnaped. Her body was found six days later in a Norwell pine grove five miles from her family's summer home. She had been the victim of a fiendish attack.

Frances Cochran vanished July 17, 1941, when she was last seen entering an old sedan driven by a swarthy youth near her home in Webster st., Lynn. Three days later her body was found in a thicket off the Old Danvers rd., near the Swampscott-Salem line. She had been assaulted by a killer who left a broken tree branch jammed in her throat.

Humidity to End, Ideal Summer Days Seen Ahead

Slightly cooler air moving in from the northwest today brought predictions that the warm, humid weather of the past week would end and "just fine summer days" were in sight.

G. Harold Noyes, weather bureau meteorologist, said the mercury dropped from 83 to 80 in the early afternoon, "and will keep going down."

"Don't let that alarm anyone, though," Noyes said. "We're not going to get any reversals like we had last month. I think those days are over."

Earlier forcasts of an east wind today were revised to make the famed sea breeze arrive tomorrow afternoon instead.

Scattered thunder showers were expected for southern New England late today. Tonight will be cooler with a minimum of about 63, the weather bureau said.

Quota Plan Won't Help Hungry Hub

OPA—The Black Market—and YOU

By WARREN STEVENS

Bureaucrats have a ready answer to mounting complaints that people actually are going hungry in the midst of plenty. They calmly issue a new directive and assume that this will straighten out months of bungling and relieve the crisis immediately.

Only last Saturday the OPA issued a new order, which, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones informed Sen. Saltonstall, would "improve the situation in deficit areas such as Massachusetts."

Saltonstall had appealed to Jones and to OPA Administrator Chester Bowles as a result of complaints from Boston from the Women's Committee for United Action and from other sections of Massachusetts regarding the acute shortage of meat and other foods.

War Food Administrator Jones informed Saltonstall that under the new order all meat processors, or packers, would be required to distribute their sales by counties in proportion to the amounts of meats they marketed to these counties in the spring of 1944.

But, like many another directive, it is unworkable as far as relieving the existing famine of meat for Boston's million consumers.

It would take until September, at least, for any effect to be shown by the new directive.

The WFA has had no regulatory order forcing packers to keep records of the meat they handled for 1942, 1943 and 1944.

Whatever figures they have are given them by the packers themselves and even the government bureau of livestock looks with a questioning eye on these figures as conservative estimates of the amount of meat handled.

12 Governors Act to Break Meat Famine

With governors of 12 northeastern states, including Gov. Tobin of Massachusetts, scheduled to meet in New York Friday to take concerted action on the critical food situation, Boston's meat famine became increasingly acute today as the strike of 900 workers at the John P. Squire plant in Somerville neared a crisis.

After appealing to Gov. Tobin to help settle the dispute, which has tied up more than 1,000,000 pounds of hogs awaiting slaughter, the strikers met in Gore Hall to consider proposals of the U. S. Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor for settlement.

The conciliator had failed to bring the union, Local 165, CIO, and the management together and was prepared today to certify the case to the War Labor Board.

Besides the 1,000,000 pounds of pork on the hoof withheld from the market as a result of the strike, an equal amount is being withheld from the plant for lack of storage and feeding facilities.

The shortage of meat, poultry and eggs, attributed to black market activities and problems of distribution, will be given special consideration at the New York conference of governors. Health officials have asserted that the shortage is now threatening the public health.

"We are going to see what can be done to increase the supply of food, particularly meat and poultry," declared Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, chairman of the New England Conference of Governors, who with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York arranged the meeting.

Sandow Hurls Girl in Lake, Battles Cops

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (AP) —June Lancaster, 24, was walking on a quiet path in MacArthur Park reading a book entitled "Serene Life."

Then something happened, fast, and she found herself in a nearby lake, "Serene Life" and all, and a voice calling: "Do you want me to pull you out?"

Police said the man who threw her in yesterday, and then became solicitous, was John Agobian, 28, 180-pound former circus strong man. Officers said a passerby, S. D. McNaly, 67, remonstrated with Agobian and was thrown into some shrubbery for his trouble.

Miss Lancaster struggled from the water and Joe Willis, 29, a coastguardman, appeared and the ex-circus man found his match, for Willis, although weighing only 150, clamped him in a hammerlock hold and kept him for 20 minutes until police arrived.

Agobian was taken to the police station but Capt. Thad Brown said he tried to escape and it took seven officers to subdue him. Agobian is held in a psychopathic ward.

STRONG MAN JOHN AGOBIAN

Wallace Copies Appeasers' Talk

By CLARE BOOTH LUCE
Republican Representative from Connecticut

Back in 1939 British and American apologists for the Nazi rape of Austria and Czechoslovakia argued like this:

"America and Germany have occasionally stepped over the line where the principle of national defense is involved, but our two nations are so placed geographically that they do not have conflicting basic interests.

"We Americans want to raise the standard of living of our people. So do the Germans.

In our different ways we are groping for a way of life which will give the common man the most good out of modern technology. There is nothing irreconcilable in our aims and purposes.

"We can do business with totalitarian Germany—and so help prevent Europe and the world from splitting into two warlike ideological camps."

What was Mr. Wallace's rejoinder, and Mr. MacLeish's—and many another Liberal's—to such talk?

"Appeaser," they shouted! "Have you not heard of the Gestapo, of the torture of the Jews, of Buchenwald and Dachau? Even if Germany does not attack America now, she will in another 20 years. So respect of humanity and law and protective self-interest all alike, both principle and power politics together say that you are wrong!"

Now listen to Mr. Henry Wallace, that passionate lover of the common man everywhere. Writing about America, Russia, and the world, in the June 11 issue of the New Republic, he says:

"America and Russia have occasionally stepped over the line when the principle of national defense is involved. The two nations are so geographically placed that they have never had conflicting basic interests.

"We want to raise the living standard of our people and we do not want to exploit other people. (Ask a Finn, a Lett, an Estonian, a Pole, or any democrat along the Danube or in the Balkans about this one?)

"Both the Russians and the Americans are in their different ways groping for a way of life which will enable the common man everywhere to get the most good out of modern technology.

There is nothing irreconcilable in our aims and purposes. Those who so proclaim are wittingly or unwittingly looking for war, and that in my opinion is criminal . . . WE MUST TRADE WITH RUSSIA TO PREVENT THE WORLD SPLITTING INTO TWO HOSTILE IDEOLOGICAL CAMPS."

And what, Mr. Wallace, about "the mortal peril which threatens our soul if we sanction the rape of small states" as you once put it?

What about the rape of small Poland, the Baltic states, Finland?

What about the subversive pressures, the military and economic forces being used upon the Balkans to Sovietize them?

What about the horror of Siberian prison camps where 18 million Russian "common men" languish today?

Mr. Wallace's voice is curiously hushed . . . "We must trade with Russia to prevent the world from splitting into two hostile ideological camps . . ." he murmurs. And then more softly: "You cannot expect a large nation to take any risks for the sake of any small nation, can you?"

WHO'S AN APPEASER NOW?

If ever appeasement was justified by MATERIAL CIRCUMSTANCES it was justified at the time of Munich. But today Russia is weak. And America and Great Britain are strong.

If Mr. Henry Wallace, moralist and lover of the "common man everywhere," was willing to fight for the common man of Austria and Czechoslovakia and of all of Europe, as Hitler took over there, why is he not willing to fight for the common man of Poland and the Baltic states and Finland, and the countries of central Europe that do not want Stalin to take over?

When is a principle not a principle?

With considerable unhappiness I contemplate the case of Mr. Archibald MacLeish. I have long thought him one of the most vibrant, sincere and eloquent liberal voices in our country.

Until V-E Day he sang the road of liberty that all free men long to travel.

By his own definition, the fundamental concept of freedom in America, spells tyranny as practised in the U. S. S. R.

In a State Department broadcast on May 26 of this year, Mr. MacLeish spoke of the Soviet Union and the U. S. A. Said he:

"The vital interest of the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. conflict at no point on the earth's surface.

"What underlies the current talk of inevitable conflict between the two nations . . . is nothing real, nothing logical."

In short says Mr. MacLeish TODAY there is no fundamental conflict between freedom and tyranny.

Mr. MacLeish obviously does not consider himself an appeaser of the forces of aggression, or totalitarianism, or tyranny or slavery, because he does not admit that these forces do or can conflict with the forces of freedom.

It is passing strange to see this queer moral obliquity suddenly close down on a spirit as clean and honest, and a mind as fearless as Mr. MacLeish's once was.

GEN. EISENHOWER, LT. JOHN EISENHOWER
Hero and Son Leave White House After Buffet

EISENHOWER

By HARRY H. SCHLACHT

Hail the conquering hero.
Our hearts are in the air.
Drums roll out and trumpets blare.
General Eisenhower has come home.

Today New York acclaims our great American hero.
The nation unites in this glorious tribute.
They cheer his name and fame.
They shower the highest accolade on him.
They greet him as a citizen of the empire of humanity.

He has made America proud.
He has made the world proud.
He is a soldier's soldier.
He is a star in the firmament of military glory.

We rejoice in the grandeur of his heroic achievements.
We recognize in him a character of commanding force and genius.
We salute him as a soldier whose signal ability as an organizer, tenacity as a fighter, and greatness as a leader won for him the plaudits of civilization.

Today also belongs to all our heroes.
Those we know and those whose names are unknown.
To those who sleep under the waves and under the flowers.
To those whose valor makes every heart thrill with pride.
To those laurelled soldiers and sailors, from private to general, from seaman to admiral,
We salute you.

They had a just cause to sustain.
They had the heritage of a great people to preserve.
They fought not for conquest but for conscience.

Onward! Their only battle cry.
Forward! To win or die.
And victory has gone their way
In every battle of the fray.

The legion of the living who will come back to us from freedom's front will forever bind us to the field of glory which they have enshrined in our hearts.

From flame and gas and bitter days
And nights of shock and shell
They'll soon come home in peaceful ways
Once more with us to dwell.

Let us speed the day.
Let every man, woman and child work, work, work.
Let every American do his bit.
Let us consecrate our hearts and souls, our brains, brawn and bravery until the last threat to our American way of life is banished from the earth.

Today our flag flies in Berlin.
Tomorrow Old Glory will wave with new glory in Tokyo.

May God hail the hour when man's inhumanity to man will cease; when the earth shall no longer rock beneath battling legions, and when the dove of peace will build its nest in the cannon's mouth.

We see our soldiers marching.
We see our flag unfurled.
And General Dwight D. Eisenhower
Is waving it to the world.

Woman Beaten To Death in R. I.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 19 (AP)—Police Chief Leonard Mills said today a woman, identified by her employer as Agnes Maynes, 56, a housekeeper, had been found beaten to death behind a meat packing plant early today.

The woman had been beaten on the head, police said, and a rock was found on the scene which might have been the assault weapon.

Dr. John A. Piccozzo of Providence, medical examiner, who said she had been dead five hours, planned an autopsy.

Meanwhile, two sisters of Mrs. Maynes were summoned to confirm the identification made by the woman's employer, Frank Otto of Olive st., Pawtucket.

Chief Mills said the woman had been seen at two nearby cafes yesterday but no one had seen her last night.

It was known she habitually wore a straw hat and was usually followed by a mongrel dog, the chief said. He said the animal had not been found.

Millions Roar N. Y. Welcome To Eisenhower

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, breathless from the greatest welcome New York ever had accorded a returned hero, told a vast crowd in City Hall Park today:

"If we are going to live the years of peace, we must be strong and we must be ready to cooperate in the spirit of true tolerance and forebearance."

Police estimated 2,000,000 persons were jammed into the bunting-draped park and surrounding streets. Four million others were said officially to have cheered the general earlier on his tour of the city.

Receiving a special city medal and accepting honorary citizenship in New York city, the tanned hale general spoke movingly of the school children who had shouted to him and waved tiny flags as his 25-car motorcade cruised through Central Park.

"Can the parents and the relatives of those children look 10 years ahead and be satisfied with anything less than your best to keep them away from the horrors of the battlefield? It has got to be done," he said.

The motorcade passed through lines of additional cheering crowds as it made its way from city Hall, by way of jammed Times Sq., to Gracie mansion, the mayor's residence, where Eisenhower was guest of honor at a luncheon.

The Polo Grounds baseball game between the New York Giants and the Boston Braves, and a dinner tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, were the day's only other events on the general's schedule.

Te general's motorcade, starting fro mLaGuardia airport, crossed Tri-borough bridge and, the greatest throng this city ever has seen lined curbs, leaned from windows andhung from fences today as they roared a welcome to general of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The wheeled through Central Park, down Fifth ave and lower Broadway.

Gen Eisenhower waved, smiled, saluted and clasped hands over his head in acknowledgement of the cheers.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived from Washington at Pennsylvania station, where she was greeted by Mrs. LaGuardia and a number of Army officers before leaving for the City Hall ceremonies.

Threatened rain held off and the temperature was in the mid-70's. The general wore a tropical worsted summer uniform and a summer cap.

Only a little torn paper fluttered down. Authorities had asked that the general's well-wishers forego this customary tribute in the interest of the paper salvage drive.

Riot Suspect Held in $50,000

Arthur J. Tango, 18, of Chelsea st., East Boston, was held in $50,000 bail in East Boston District Court today, charged with armed robbery and assault and battery with intent to kill, both counts arising from the recent affray in which a policeman was stabbed and a youth killed at an East Boston carnival.

Arthur Tango

Tango allegedly stabbed Patrolman Robert Hamlet as the officer attempted to arrest a youth for striking the carnival manager. Arraigned with him was Ralph DiMita, 41, of Crystal cove, Winthrop, charged with being an accessory after the fact. DiMita's bail was fixed at $2500. Both cases were continued to June 21 by Judge Charles J. Brown.

Tango surrendered to police last night. He said he had been in Portland. Police said he confessed he had hidden the knife in an East Boston lumber yard and it had bee recovered.

Patrolman Hamlet's gun was taken from him during the struggle. Police reported Tango confessed taking it and throwing it in Chelsea creek. Harbor police were searching for it.

Two other youths and two girls are under bail in connection with the same case.

Thus far only two of the candidates have been certified. They are Mayor Kerrigan and Cong. Curley.

75 Stars Fill Bill For Bataan Show

Seventy-five stellar performers, leaders in their respective fields of show business, all will take part in the mammoth benefit show at the Boston Garden next Sunday night. The program, arranged by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser includes eight state and movie celebrities, seven radio stars, 10 headliners from night clubs, and 50 other top-ranking favorites of the entertainment world.

Present, too, will be real heroes of this war—men of Bataan—rescued from the tortures of Jap internment camps.

Here is a rare opportunity for you to see a show of shows, to look well upon the heroes who took the worst the enemy could inflict, and still live to tell the tale. And here also is a rare opportunity for you, while being entertained as never before, to help other heroes and their womenfolk and their children.

Because the big show next Sunday night at Boston Garden has been arranged in twin purpose—to raise funds for a badly-needed downtown center for servicemen's wives and mothers, and as a salute to "Back to Bataan," the enthralling RKO film epic of Yankee diehards and Filipino guerrillas which has its world premiere next Monday at Boston's Keith Memorial Theater.

Here is what you get at amazingly low prices of $1.20, $2.40 and $3.60:

Eddie Cantor and his radio show, including Leonard Sues, famed trumpeter; Fred Martel, vocalist, and Nora Martin and Bea Walker, song stylists.

Benny Goodman, his 24-piece band and sextet, from the RKO-Boston.

From Hollywood: Beauteous Ellen Drew, star of RKO's "China Sky"; John Wayne and Fely Franquelli, starred in "Back to Bataan"; Anthony Quinn and Ducky Louie, supporting players in the epic film, and Jesse L. Lasky, the RKO producing ace.

Romo Vincent, popular Broadway comedian and star of the hit show, "Marinka," opening tonight at the Shubert.

From the Club Mayfair: Johnny Howard, Hollywood's favorite funster; the glamorous Whitney Sisters dance team; the Crosby Sisters, comedians of song; the Six Dancing Mayfairettes.

From the Latin Quarter: comical Chaz Chase; the extraordinary voice of Paddy Cliff; the 14 Don Arden Girls; Tony Bruno and his celebrated 25-piece band.

From the new Bradford Roof: Jackie Miles, Broadway's favorite, a one-man show and the season's laughs-and-gags sensation.

From the Yankee Network: Jean Merrill, Ted Cole and the Gallagher Sisters, singers.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident Philippines commissioner to the U. S., and member of Gen. MacArthur's staff.

Five hundred wearers of the Purple Heart, awarded for wounds received in action.

U. S. Marine Sgts. Kenneth Mize, Dennis Rainwater, and Neal Iovino, rescued from the Jap prison at Cabanatuan, Luzon and who appear in "Back to Bataan."

Twelve New Englanders rescued from Cabanatuan: Maj. John J. Dugan, S.J., chaplain at Cushing General Hospital, Framingham; Maj. Vaughan A. Shaw, Fort Devens; Capt. John W. Temple, Pittsfield; Capt. Francis M. Lunnie, Concord, Vt.; S-Sgt. Willard Haskill, Providence; Sgts. T. B. Boyle and Abraham Richstein of Dorchester; Joseph Thibeault, Lawrence, and Winthrop C. Pinkham, Barrington, N. H.; Cpl. Philip C. Rohde, New Haven, Ct.; Pvt. Marvel Ross, Syracuse, N. Y., and WO (jg) Nathan Cleaves, Portland, Me.

Better get your tickets early. Remember, that at the Bob Hope show, thousands were unable to gain admittance because they put off making reservations until the last minute. Tickets are on sale daily at Boston Garden, from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Act now lest you regret it later.

3 Fined $500 In Attleboro for Bootlegging Beef

ATTLEBORO, June 19—Three men were fined a total of $500 in Fourth District Court here today in the first prosecution by State Police for "bootlegging" cattle since they opened their drive three weeks ago.

Police, Fire Pay Raise Permanent

Mayor Kerrigan today made permanent the temporary war-time pay raises granted to 32 police and 37 fire department officials who were left off the list of city workers given increases last December.

The police list included Supt. Edward W. Fallon, five deputies and 26 captains, each given $200 annual increase. Twenty-nine district chiefs and seven deputies were included on the fire department roll.

Kerrigan said the action assured the men of the additional pay after the war emergency.

Tells Secrets of Hitler Jet Bomb Built to Hit Hub, U. S.

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERCHTESGADEN, June 19 (INS)—Details of Germany's powerful jet-bomber ME-264, which was being readied to bomb United States eastern cities by autumn, were disclosed today by Fritz Goernnert, personal aide of Goering.

The four-motored jet-bomber, he said, had a revolutionary motor-cooling system. The turbo-jet engines were fed powdered instead of liquid fuel.

Work on the "Air Dragon" had been rushed and everything was ready for mass producton.

Goering's ministry of air had planned to launch swarms of the missiles at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Schenectady, Pittsburgh and other cities, at the some time intensifying their London V-weapon assault with improved devices and reinforced ME-264 raids.

In April of this year a small model of the "Air Dragon" with a 2000-horsepower motor was on secret exhibit after tests near Brunswick.

Goernnert thinks the model was destroyed to prevent its capture by Allied forces. However, since that time the brains of Germany's rocket, jet and radar staffs have placed themselves at the Allies' disposal.

Lawrence Man Faces Quiz in Langford Case

NEW YORK, June 19 (INS)—William Netto, a younger brother of Reed Lawton, singer and $100,000 protege of Mrs. Marion Grimes Langford, was to be questioned today in connection with the Marguery hotel murder of Mrs. Langford's husband, Albert.

Netto lives in Lawrence, Mass., and police of that city were asked to conduct the questioning. Netto was Lawton's original name.

Interrogation of Lawton's brother was the only police development into the slaying of Langford who was shot to death by two men outside his luxurious apartment in the swank Hotel Marguery, 14 days ago.

Attorneys for Lawton, however, announced they would file a $500,000 suit in Supreme Court against Mrs. Langford. Samuel J. Siegel, Lawton's lawyer, said the singer had directed him to bring the suit on the ground that Mrs. Langford's statements during the murder probe had "tended to embarrass" him and "injure his professional standing."

Reds Want Reich To Pay 20 Billion

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, June 19 (INS)—Premier Stalin was reported today to have asked $20,000,000,000 be set as the sum Germany must pay in reparations for war damage.

The figure supposedly put forth by Stalin could not be confirmed in official circles, but the story was not denied.

It was believed the suggested figure might be used as the first bargaining point in discussions by Allied reparations commissions entering preliminary stages in Moscow.

London expects virtually all reparations will be paid in kind and through the seizure of gold stocks and confiscation or cancellations of all foreign currency recovered from the Germans.

The nature of the payment, in the first instance, is expected to involve removal of certain German industries to devastated Allied areas.

Priest Warns Labor-Jobs Parley of Communist Peril

Warning against the inroads of Communism in the postwar period, the Rev. Joseph Robinson, spiritual director of the Catholic Labor Guild, told a Hotel Statler conference sponsored by the American Legion today the Legion and Church officials must unite against the menace.

The two-day session, climaxing 12 regional meetings throughout New England, was attended by leaders of labor and industry, government and religious officials seeking the key to postwar prosperity by creation of jobs for veterans and nonveterans alike.

Fr. Robinson, who represented Abp. Cushing, and other speakers at the opening session warned that postwar plans must include not only jobs for the veterans but for those who would be thrown out of jobs by closing of war industries.

He also declared care must be taken of many returning veterans to assist them in directing abilities into proper channels. He pointed out that numerous World War II veterans had gone to jail or prison because of maladjustment on their return to civilian life.

"We must be on the alert, too, against attempts of Communism to penetrate into our postwar life," he said. "Religious leaders and the American Legion should work together to prevent this and protect our American way of life."

Mayor Kerrigan, welcoming the conference, urged those present to use the same genius America had shown in winning the war in winning peacetime prosperity.

Joseph Salerno, State CIO head, said his organization had waived initiation fees and adjusted seniority credits for returning veterans and would back the job creation program all along the line.

Other speakers at the opening session included State American Legion Dept. Com. Thomas F. Mackey; Mrs. Agdella Boudreau, State Auxiliary head; Maj. Earl R. Barnard, representing Gov. Tobin; Ray McEvoy of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, and Maj. R. B. Gate of the Connecticut Re-employment Commission.

The conference is part of the Legion's "grassroots program" of community action for maximum employment in every section of the U. S.

Ralph H. Lavers of Washington, chairman of the Legion's national employment committee, said the first concern of the Legion is employment of veterans.

New Record Goal In Paper Drive

Every available truck and worker went into action today in the effort to lift Boston's monthly salvage drive for waste paper, scrap tin and old rags to a new high record, with collections underway in the first 10 wards of the city.

George C. Hyland, chairman of the Boston Salvage Committee, urged all residents of the 10 wards to have their paper bundled and out on the curbstones early so that the collection forces will not miss even one bundle. Tomorrow collections will be made in Wards 11 through 14.

Pointing out that this is the last collection before the summer vacation, Hyland said the usual war bond prizes will be awarded to residents in each ward.

Collections also will be made in Needham's Precinct 2 today, and tomorrow in Needham's Precinct 3, Holbrook, and Winchester's west side.

Already 12 out of hundreds of those whose names were listed in a book kept by Murphy and found by police among his belongings, have been questioned by detectives at Cambridge police headquarters.

ecutive chairman of the Women's Committee for United Action, in a telegram to Sen. Saltonstall today described the latest derective as "an evasion of responsibility in the present crisis and a sidestepping of the need for immediate action."

Under the newly evolved directive, it would be necessary for government agencies to get together with the packers or their representatives and make up an arbitrary schedule based on the meat receipt figures given by the packers for the spring of 1944.

Even setting aside the fact that such conferences would be bound to consist of pulling and tugging by one side or the other to extend the setting up of the schedule for some time, the fact remains that these packers have not been providing much meat for over-the-counter consumption.

Probably a fair figure would be 10 per cent since the bulk of their supply since late in 1943 has been going to the hotel and restaurant trade because of the higher ceilings permitted there to the packers.

The bulk of the over-the-counter meat supplies for the Boston market comes to the retailers from local slaughter houses, which does not require federal inspection since its products are not shipped out of the state.

It was this type of slaughterer who was restricted in May and June to killing only a percentage of the livestock which he had processed in those months of 1944.

This limitation of non-federally inspected slaughter to 75 per cent of beef and 50 per cent of hogs came in an OPA announcement of a 10-point program of the Office of Economic Stabilization, the OPA, the WFA and the War Department.

It was devised to channel more livestock into federally inspected slaughterhouses, the only type from which the armed services can purchase, and for shipment across state lines to shortage areas.

So, while limiting the biggest source of supply for over-the-counter sales of meat to Boston's army of consumers, the bureaucrats indicate that everything is going to be all right because they're going to divert supplies to the civilian market from another source.

The fact that this source has been supplying at a fair estimate only 10 per cent of its supply to the civilian market apparently was not taken into consideration.

Mrs. Wilkins put her finger on the nub of the problem today in her telegram to Sen. Saltonstall, which read:

"In news dispatches reaching this state you are quoted as having queried War Food Administrator Marvin Jones regarding the present meat famine in Massachusetts, which reached a disastrously low point this past weekend.

"The same dispatch quoted War Food Administrator Jones as having told you:

"'An order, which should improve the situation in deficit areas, already has been issued requiring all meat processors to distribute their sales by counties, in ple of Massachusetts going to eat proportion to the amount marketed in those counties during the spring of 1941.'

"This is an evasion of responsibility in the present crisis and a sidestepping of the need for immediate action.

"'The plan to which War Food Administrator Jones refers cannot and will not relieve the meat famine here for months to come.

"According to Elden Shoup, regional OPA Administrator, there are no meat figures by counties available in Massachusetts.

"The War Food Administration itself discontinued in 1942 its market news service reports, which listed daily meat receipts in Boston.

"Therefore, the OPA now must wait for packers to hand in their figures for 1944 before it even can begin to put this plan in operation.

"Meanwhile, what are the people of Massachusetts going to eat while the mechanics of this long-range plan are being set up? This definitely is your concern as our business agent in government as well as the concern of the entire New England delegation.

"It is imperative that meat be rushed here in emergency shipments!

"Already there are threats of strikes from war workers who cannot do their jobs while their energies decrease deadly through lack of body-sustaining proteins.

"There must be meats, poultry or eggs rushed to this area and at once, for the situation is critical.

"It is too late for vague promises from Washington food officials. The only thing that can avert greater disaster is emergency shipping to this area at once.

"This is the time for action! Will you kindly advise what you are going to do toward solution of this grave crisis as it is my duty to report your answer to our county leaders?"

$50 Distributed In Tip Awards

A Waban woman who realized that a girl working as a wartime shoemaker in her community was a worthy subject for a feature story and pictures won a $5 prize in the $50 weekly news tip contest conducted by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser.

Other alert tipsters submitting "out-of-the-ordinary" tips to share in the prize awards included a Clinton woman who phoned the City Editor at Liberty 4000 to say that Presidential Secretary Matthew Connelly was visiting his home there and a Portsmouth, N. H., girl who gave a tip on a Marine-Wave double wedding at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Their tips won $2 each.

Tipsters on an Ayer plane crash and a Newburyport bus crash were awarded $5 each for their news sagacity. Tips on a Cambridge fire and the arrest of two sailors attempting to cash stolen war bonds in Andover won $3 each.

Awards of $2 each were given for tips on a strike at the John P. Squire plant which brought hundreds of hogs a respite from death and a Cambridge baby "kidnap" case.

Three other awards of $2 each and 15 awards of $1 each brought the weekly distribution of prize money to alert news tipsters to its total of $50.

Parley Asked To Ban Spain From League

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19 (AP)—Mexico came forward today with a proposal that the United Nations permanently bar the Franco government of Spain from membership in their World League.

Luis Quintanilla, former Mexican ambassador to Moscow, planned to put the proposition formally before a public session of one of the United Nations conference commissions, which are driving toward completion of a world charter this week.

His proposal invited argument as to whether the conference should attempt to write any specific membership limitations when it is assigning to a world assembly the task of admitting outside nations.

Hospital Bills in Massachusetts is paid by

Blue Cross

1,100,000 members in this state alone!

ARE YOU AND YOURS PROTECTED?

BLUE CROSS is a non-profit, low-cost plan . . . entirely voluntary . . . for protection against unexpected hospital bills. For a few cents a day, it pays for hospital services for the entire family, regardless of cost.

Founded less than 8 years ago, Blue Cross already has more than 1,100,000 members in Massachusetts . . . one out of every four persons in the state. 50,000 are joining monthly.

The chances are one to ten that you will go to the hospital within a year—or some member of your family will go. If you join Blue Cross, your bill will be sent directly to Blue Cross . . . and Blue Cross will pay the hospital.

Blue Cross is the only plan endorsed by leading hospitals. It is made possible by co-operation of employers, hospitals and leaders of your community. Because its membership is so large, its benefits are liberal.

Once you join, you can keep your valuable membership for life, regardless of where you work or live . . .

HOW TO JOIN

If your company has an Employee Group

If there already is a Blue Cross group where you work, and you are not a member, do these two things: (1) Send in the coupon below so that you can get this protection when additions are made to your group. (2) See your manager or personnel director immediately.

If no Blue Cross group exists

If there are as many as four other employees in your company, you can get this protection for yourself and family, providing an adequate percentage of your fellow workers joins with you. Ask your employer immediately to help form a group. Fill in the coupon below, mail it to us, and we shall try to form a group with the assistance of your employer.

If you are self-employed, unemployed or work in an establishment of less than 5 people

Fill in the coupon below and mail it to us. We will send our Non-group Application for individual or family membership.

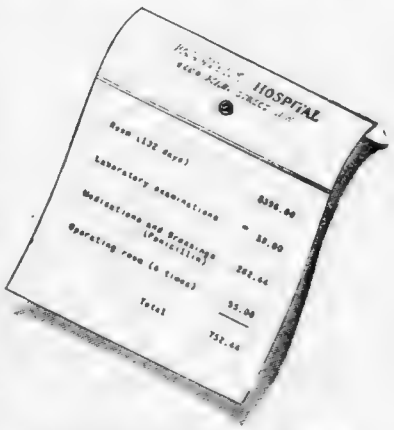
* * *

WHAT YOU GET. All Blue Cross Employee Group members are entitled to receive, without charge—in semi-private accommodations in member hospitals—30 days (each admission) of the finest hospital care money can buy, plus a credit on your bill equal to half the cost of services for an additional 90 days. For private room patients, Blue Cross allows a credit equal to semi-private charges.

With Blue Cross, you don't have to bother with claims or troublesome financial questions. Just present your Blue Cross membership card to any general hospital anywhere and Blue Cross pays the hospital.

* * *

WHAT IT COSTS. Employee Group protection costs only 35 cents a month for the individual; $1.05 a month for husband and wife; and $2.00 a month for husband, wife and all unmarried children under 19 years of age.



HERE IS ONE OF THE BILLS paid recently by Blue Cross. In some instances, total bills and individual items have run even higher.

THE BLUE SHIELD SURGICAL PLAN
The Massachusetts medical profession sponsors the Blue Shield Surgical Plan which provides similar low-cost protection for payment of in-hospital surgical and obstetrical bills. Available to employee groups only. Ask for details.

Blue Cross pays a hospital bill in Massachusetts every 6 minutes

BLUE CROSS

More than 16,000,000 Americans enjoy Blue Cross protection. Throughout the nation, 12,000 new joinings daily. Massachusetts members total more than 1,100,000.

TAXED TO LIMIT

MANY MONTHS AGO a committee of Congress reported that 500,000 "Little Business" enterprises had been forced out of existence by war conditions.

These were concerns that could not adapt themselves to war production.

Some of them perished for lack of goods to sell. Others were denied the use of materials for fabrication because of the priorities system.

Still others were unavoidably deprived of the labor necessary to keep them going.

It would now be an easy assumption that at the end of the war, with the Federal Administration committed to a postwar objective of "full employment," the period of high mortality in "Little Business" will cease, since "Little Business" is in truth the nation's largest employer.

The sobering fact is, however, that the bloodless carnage will probably NOT cease.

For unless the Federal tax structure is drastically revised, so as to enable "Little Business" men to go into business and permit them to remain in business, the terrific attrition of small independent undertakings will go relentlessly on.

THERE ARE many who recognize the portents and who are trying to do something about them.

Certain officials at Washington want to finance "Little Business" with government loans, which is a Socialistic device that would make the "Little Business" man the pawn of bureaucracy.

Banking organizations are formulating plans and dedicating pools of capital to assist "Little Business," hoping to avert the danger to the free enterprise system that is inseparable from Federal involvement in any kind of business.

The basic weakness in these plans, as devices to foster or to preserve "Little Business," is this—

There is a limit to the amount of money which can be lent to a small merchant, manufacturer or service man which can be properly used by him:

And no matter how much financial "backing" he may receive, he cannot continue to operate if he cannot make enough money to carry his operating expenses and repay his borrowings and retain a profit for himself and his associates:

YET "Little Business" cannot do that for just one prevailing reason—RAPACIOUS FEDERAL TAXATION STANDS IN HIS WAY.

SO TRUE is this, indeed, that shrewd financial interests are entering the situation with a new kind of "holding company."

A corporation has been organized in the Mid-West to BUY UP "small, successful and well-established businesses," which cannot compete with the tax collector, before the tax collector drives them to the wall.

It is reported that "an affiliate" of the corporation "already has acquired control of fifteen little companies in the East."

The promotional idea is one of small business plants, engaged in diversified lines, with a single ownership and a single "top management" over all.

The economic significance of the development is that it is one more indication of the approaching extinction of the great American MIDDLE CLASS.

This class as a whole numbers some twenty-five million active and self-reliant citizens, including the professions; and small business men are among the most important and socially useful members of this great productive class.

They are the victims of Communistic encroachments from one direction and of political exploitation from the other.

They are numerous enough and intelligent enough and able enough to save themselves from the Red radicals and the tax looters.

And they can SAVE AMERICA by doing so.

EXCEPTION: Most women live longer than their husbands. However, there are some notable exceptions to this rule, as an inscription on a tombstone in an Isle of Wight cemetery proves. The inscription is as follows:

Amelia Anne, beloved wife of Albert Saunders:
Emily, beloved second wife of Albert Saunders:
Agatha Mary, beloved third wife of Albert Saunders:
Naomi, beloved fourth wife of Albert Saunders:
Ruth Maria, beloved fifth wife of Albert Saunders.

PLEASE NOTE: From the London Daily Mirror I quote: "Canada does not plan to send big numbers of troops to the Pacific, Gen. MacNaughton, Canada defense minister, announced yesterday. We will assist to smash Japan with a minimum of machines and explosives." (Note—With the United States sending a maximum number of men to smash Japan, how can Canada, which also has a large Pacific Coast line, justify sending a minimum number of men? Perhaps some expert on the Canadian situation could enlighten me.)

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Should a woman dress to please her husband or to please herself? What have you in your Horses & Women files on this matter? A—A woman should make a study of her type, dress to suit it and hope her husband will be pleased. He usually will be. Of course, there is another angle to the query. Some husbands object to their wives wearing evening gowns cut too low. Others disapprove of wearing slacks at the wrong time, especially if the lady in the case hasn't the figure for the same. In such situations the wife should take the objection under consideration. If justified, she should heed it. However, there is no reason why a woman, even in her 30's or 40's, shouldn't emphasize the good points nature provided her with and be an "oomph girl" in a small way if it pleases her. Such is the opinion of our H & W experts.

HORSES: One stargazer who has turned his attention to a study of thoroughbred racehorses says: "Nine is the great racing number." He then shows that on one day at Jamaica horses having number nine were in the money in every race. Being a fellow who checks nearly everything, I consulted the results for three other days. On these days not one horse with number nine was in the money. I don't believe astrology to be of the least assistance in picking winners. I will wager this stargazer or anybody else a box of stogies that over a period of 30 days at any track selected that number three will be in the money more than number nine confining the deal to races between nine or more horses.

GETTING HUSBANDS: Has been claimed by those who have made a study of the records that a woman over 45 has one chance in a hundred to get married. That is to say a woman in her late forties is a 100-to-1 shot in the matrimonial handicap. Commenting on this claim, a Seattle, Wash., subscriber says: "Maybe women over 45 are 100-to-1 shots when it comes to getting a husband. But longshots do win once in a while, don't they? My sister and I were both between 45 and 50 when married. We both got Class A husbands, too."

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Hollywoodians keep saying Myrna Loy may marry Gene Markey soon. Looks as if I may win that box of cigars from the Baltimorean who bet me Myrna wouldn't be married within two years . . . Many men of business who are doing well right now are beginning to think they are very smart fellows. Maybe they are. But you can't judge a man's business ability until you know how he handles things during a depression or any period when things are hard to sell. As the old Brooklyn proverb has it, "It takes a strong man to swim against the current; any dead fish will float with it."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.)

NEW YORK, June 19—The abandonment of the policy of co-operation which the American Communists adopted for the duration of Russia's war has been followed almost immediately in New York by a slow-down strike in the omnibus system.

Westbrook Pegler

This ingenious method of industrial sabotage was first tried out in France. It may be significant that the decree to the American Communists was issued under the name of a French Communist.

It was published, however, in the party's New York paper and adopted promptly as the new party line. It calls for resumption of the class war and this means strikes, organized riots and the deliberate infliction of distress on the population by such stratagems as this slow-down strike of the bus drivers in the streets of New York.

The weather has been painfully hot, interspersed with heavy rainfall which drenched those who happened to be waiting at the corners. There have been angry struggles among the crowds for places aboard the creeping buses and the delays, in their effect on individuals, undoubtedly have retarded the production and delivery of materials to the men who are still fighting a war in which Russia is not involved.

★ ★ ★

IN THE PRESENT CASE there was neither a vote nor an order from the union headquarters authorizing the strike and the union has taken the position that no strike exists.

Individual drivers, however, have tacitly acknowledged that a slow-down strike is in effect and it will be noted that this method, imported here before the war after the French experiments, is more difficult to contend with than the old-fashioned open strike.

Inasmuch as the drivers are still aboard and moving, though at a crawl and in procession, the union can contend that there is no strike and that, therefore, there is no occasion for the use of strike-breakers or the seizure of the property and the operation of the buses by the Army.

Last summer these dispatches reported that the Communists had taken a lesson from the obliteration of the roller and ball-bearing industry in Germany, whereby German industry was terribly crippled.

Gen. Carl T. Spaatz seems to have had the idea first. The plan recognized that if production of these bearings could be stopped, or even seriously diminished, the Nazis could not produce engines for planes or submarines or land vehicles or the many types of machinery used in the manufacture of machinery.

Thousands of young Americans risked their lives and many were lost in the raids beginning with Schweinfurt, where 60 bombers went down, but the campaign went on and Russia, no less than the United States, enjoyed the results of its success in the diminution of German strength and resistance.

★ ★ ★

IN COMMUNIST STRATEGY, whose objective is civil commotion, the grievance is never a cause but always a subterfuge. Grievances can always be improvised and mere irritations magnified into unbearable impositions as in a case where the hokey-pokey wagon has only chocolate ice cream when a suffering toiler wants vanilla.

The party strategy also surveys the anatomy of a nation's industry and selects the jugular, where mortal damage may be inflicted with the least effort.

There are only a few thousand bus drivers in New York whose present conduct, if continued indefinitely, nevertheless could cause disturbances far out of proportion to their number.

Similarly, there are only a few thousand employes in all the American plants producing roller and ball-bearings who by a long strike could retard industrial conversion, re-employment and recovery to a much greater extent than Gen. Spaatz injured the Germans in those particular raids.

The difference is that the Germans could improvise, whereas in our country, under the various laws and labor bureaus, when the bearing workers go out nobody can take their places. Thus, soon, the automobile industry again closes down and the workers as far back as the mines and cotton fields, and those in the tire factories, glass factories and offices, the railroad men who move the materials and finished automobiles, the men who are to build those new railroad cars which also roll on bearings, and others by the million are thrown out of work.

Destitution follows, affecting returned servicemen and, such is the Communist formula, there will be riots flouting all government and Communism will arrive.

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—If any film company wants Gertrude Lawrence's book, "A Star Danced," they'll take Victor Saville with the deal and like it.

Rosalind Russell

Gertie has signed a contract with her old friend to produce and direct her book which will be out shortly. At the time I said the companies were a little shy bidding because of the asking price of $400,000. Fanny Holtzman, a woman lawyer, who is in San Francisco with the Chinese delegation, telephoned and cried to high heaven it wasn't true.

But now, if Saville goes with the deal the price probably won't be so high because Gertrude has such confidence in him. Hers is a love story and ends with her romance with her present husband. At the moment Gertie is overseas with the Shakespearean actor, Maurice Evans.

THE NEW Mrs. Harry Goetz, former Congresswoman Katherine Connors, and Harry were dining at Romanoff's with Bill and Edith Goetz. Looked like a very friendly and happy family get-together. However, Harry says he isn't here for the sole purpose of seeing relatives. He is here to talk to Rosalind Russell and Irene Dunne. He wants one of them to accept his offer to star on the stage in "Strange Bedfellows," a suffragette satire by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements. After the run of the play, whichever actress appears on the stage will be seen in the movie version.

OUR BIGGER and better actors are all getting the Western urge, or shall I say the desire to ride into the purple sage. Gary Cooper's latest, "Along Came Jones," is as Western as anything Bronco Billy ever did in his heyday, when he was a hard riding gent who rescued damsels in distress. Now Fred MacMurray is to play "Smokey," in the famed Will James epic about a horse. Mr. MacMurray will be all done up in Technicolor with Anne Baxter as his damsel in distress.

THERE'S BEEN a rumor that Salka Viertel and Greta Garbo are no longer friends which may or may not be true. But I can see how the woman who used to write most of the Garbo scripts and advise her in business, has decided she had better look around for something else to do. Garbo is practically out of movies, so Miss Viertel has planked down $30,000 for a property across from Romanoff's and will open a sidewalk cafe called "Chez Salka." One of the features of the place will be a private room in the back called the "preview room" where picture people can gather after previews to discuss the movie problems.

NOW THAT HINTS ON THE CASE have been paint, the truth about Bette Davis vs. The Military should be forthcoming shortly . . . The mysterious fact of the situation is that the powers-that-be in overscership of plays that go overseas have refused to okay Miss Davis' selection of Philip Barry's old-time hit, "Holiday" . . . In sketchy reports from Hollywood, Miss Davis is represented as saying that "Holiday" is too difficult to produce, on the grounds we are given to believe that the production would be too elaborate.

THIS IS nonsense . . . "Holiday" was a simple production when Hope Williams came out of New York society to play the leading role way back in 1927 or 1928 at the Music Box . . . Advices from New York have it that Miss Davis is getting angrier by the hour at the delay in sanctioning a vehicle for her.

WASHINGTON, June 19—Prof. William Y. Elliott, vice chairman of the War Production Board in Charge of Civilian Requirements, is constantly batting his brains out trying to get goods for domestic consumption.

This is quite a tragedy in itself because Prof. Elliott has very high-class brains, which should be tenderly nurtured. In addition to being a large bureaucrat he is professor at Harvard University where he teaches a frivolous subject known as Constitutional and Governmental Law.

He lays down the law at Harvard—gosh, ain't I being cute?—on Mondays and then spends the rest of the week in Washington finding out what civilians can't have.

In fact, no man in the land has been plagued by shortages as much as the worthy Dr. Elliott.

However, he had to make an overseas jaunt recently and was told he would have to wear a uniform. Knowing the shortages he bought sparingly.

The sales clerk told him he would need at least three uniforms with extra pairs of pants; also three or four pairs of shoes.

"You mean I can buy that much?" gasped Dr. Elliott.

"Hell!" exclaimed the clerk, "do you believe all that baloney they put out in Washington? Get wise, mister—there are no shortages!"

THERE WAS a very interesting piece in one of the local newspapers the other day to the effect that President Truman had kicked Harry Hopkins and Judge Sam Rosenman out of a cabinet meeting.

The story described graphically how Hopkins and Rosenman had entered the Cabinet meeting "as usual" and how the President had informed them very sternly that Cabinet meetings are attended only by the President and his Cabinet. The impression was left that Hopkins and Rosenman became greatly abashed and practically slunk out.

As I say, it was an interesting piece. In fact, it contained only one minor flaw. There wasn't a word of truth in it.

NO NON-CABINET member has ever tried to crash a Truman Cabinet meeting. And here's something:

The President made a careful check and learned that neither Hopkins, Rosenman, or anyone else not of the cabinet, had ever attended one of FDR's Cabinet sessions either—except Hopkins when he was Secretary of Commerce!

WELL, AT LAST I've got some place to go when news gets dull in Washington. I have just received a letter from the Hon. H. S. Malik, Prime Minister of Patiala, India, who says:

"Let us know when you feel like visiting Patiala. I can promise you good materials!"

★ ★ ★

I DO NOT know what the Prime Minister considers "good material," but he told me once that he is constantly faced with problems just as screwy as any he ever saw around Washington.

His Excellency is a Sikh and has never touched scissors to his head or beard. His beard is so luxuriant he keeps it contained in a hairnet thereby intriguing all dentists getting their first glimpse.

He has dozens of turbans of vivid hues but otherwise he dresses like Jimmy Walker. Incidentally, I wonder how Jimmy would look in a bright yellow turban?

The Prime Minister is also one of the world's great golfers. He has played in the British and American open championships and numberless other big contests.

One time he was playing in a tournament down South in which Bobby Jones also was entered. A local sports writer spotted the striking visitor and let his imagination run riot.

He wrote that the Prime Minister owned hundreds of elephants and was reported to have a hundred wives—a score or so of whom were with him.

His Excellency, who is strictly monogamous, was not in the least perturbed.

"I sought out the writer," he said, "and told him I was highly flattered. I told him, however, that I did not have a hundred wives.

"I said I had neither the means—nor the constitution!"

He looked very cool and comfortable at the party. Consequently, he was a bit bewildered when the host took him aside and confided how to get out of "Latvian Canal."

He couldn't figure out the gag and finally the host had to tell him. It seems in his rapidly changing of raiment, the General had forgotten to put on his shirt.

NEW YORK, June 19—Of all the comedians who caper before the public, Eddie Cantor has the most vitamins. Waffles, Please!

By MARTHA LEE

SURVEYS PROVE that in the ten years preceding the war American families bought more than seven million waffle irons. Only last year a checkup showed that one out of every five urban families was even in good condition and ready to work as often as once every ten days.

It seems that waffles are one of America's favorite dishes, all of which probably goes a long way toward explaining why America's homemakers loved this summer with the most critical meat shortage of the war, just ahead of the rising meat and more to waffles to help make meatless meals tasty.

But to possess homemakers are asking, plan and buy waffles from flakes of tasty batter. Sweet waffles, cheese waffles, corn waffles, cocoa waffles, spicy apple waffles, cream waffles and the like.

Another reason for the present popularity of waffles is a fully-prepared baking mix, created just for waffles. Made by a nationally famous manufacturer of fully-prepared mixes, it's unrationed in the store needs no rationed ingredients in the making. Begin with waffles, add a touch of imagination and you'll create a list of easy, appealing summertime menus like this meal we, without meat.

HERE IS A BANGUP PINUP picture of Nanette Parks, a Columbia cutie . . . whose facial pulchritude more than sets off her charming litheness. But, even at her age . . . it is wise beauty counsel to use a special astringent containing real citrus juice and give the complexion a beneficial fruit cocktail for greater complexion cunningness.

Worth Its Weight in Facial Gold

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

MOST OF US START off breakfast with a tall glass of refreshing, good-to-the-palate cold citrus fruit juice. Why? Because we feel . . . and rightly so . . . that a fruit cocktail of juices cleanses the system of impurities while it stimulates organic functioning to a more proper and higher degree. Then, too, because citrus fruit contains certain vitamins beneficial to the body . . . tones it up and makes it go in much the same way as greasing the axle encourages the wheel to move more swiftly and efficiently.

Now we've discovered a special astringent that contains honest-to-goodness, real citrus fruit juice . . . you can actually smell it in the bottle . . . to react on the facial skin in a similarly beneficial way . . . because it will cleanse the pores and rid them scrupulously of all accumulations unfavorable to a soft, dewy complexion as it gives zest and zeal to the epidermis.

So here is a fruit cocktail for the complexion . . . a non-alcoholic astringent that tones up the complexion the scientific way . . . this being a scientific era of better things for better living . . . that helps you enjoy a smooth-textured skin that looks fresh, young and healthful under make-up. Lotions are important beauty aids. We don't think enough women recognize their worth or efficacy. We don't think enough women realize the potency of . . . for instance, such an astringent as this . . . in firming facial contours and in strengthening muscles that may have a tendency to sag.

This astringent . . . fruit cocktail for the complexion we like to call it . . . has potent power for facial fineness. It can be especially wonderful not only to any skin that needs toning up . . . and don't we all . . . but to a sagging chin as well. If you use pads dampened with this liquid under your chin and tie them up with a band firmly . . . say for about 15 minutes . . . you won't droop when drooping time is akin to your age.

Water is a powerful astringent . . . but for specific action on the pores and for total removal of cream . . . it falls a little short. Here is an unsung cosmetic . . . worth its weight in facial gold . . . that does your complexion a heap of good.

For the name of this fruit cocktail astringent, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, MONDAY—I would like to go back to last Tuesday evening, when the American Legion, La Fayette Post 37, in Poughkeepsie invited me to come to their regular meeting and receive my husband's citation. He had long been a member of the post and I have long been a member of the Auxiliary, but we were away so much that our membership was largely in name.

Speaking of my husband, Sheriff Close said that the members present represented a cross-section of America, and that they had always been very proud of having as a member of their post the commander-in-chief of our armed forces and the President of our country.

In any Dutchess County audience, one is safe in assuming that political affiliations are largely Republican. But here was no politics and there was a genuine friendliness which I shall long remember.

I was particularly happy to talk with some of the mothers and wives afterward. Many of their men have been in far distant places. Some of the men back in this country are seriously wounded, and two mothers had lost their sons.

* * *

ON WEDNESDAY, at the invitation of the Secretary of the Treasury, I went over to the Air Force Convalescent Center at Pawling, N. Y., to take part in one of the radio broadcasts for the Seventh War Loan. It was wonderful to see the improvements made at the Center since I was there a year ago last February.

The young commanding officer showed us the rooms, which are made much less formal than institutional rooms would ordinarily be. There are many activities—among them a woodworking shop, an art room, a library and, of course, a gymnasium and a well-developed physiotherapy department.

The best part of the broadcast, it seemed to me, was the part in which the men themselves spoke over the air. One young man told me he was leaving the next day to go back to duty, and while he didn't like to talk about his experiences, he felt he could do it just once for the good of the other fellows.

Daytime Suit for Evening

By BETTINA BEDWELL

HOW to turn a Cinderella of a daytime suit into a magnificent evening item is something that a lot of designers have been thinking up ways and means to answer. And they have turned out some very pretty solutions, in the way of flanking accessories which glorify that suit so its own mother wouldn't know it.

Arpad, a brilliant young accessory designer, is one with a most effective kind of answer to this problem. He makes accessory sets of halter blouse, headdress and handbags that give any suit an evening kind of glory. One set is sketched. Made of rich Persian printed material, the halter blouse is beaded over in extra richness and so is the delightful little padded halo that is made of the same material. Likewise, the handbag is given the bead treatment.

Warm Days, Late Gardens Made to Order for Insects

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agriculture School and Director of The Boston Record-American, Sunday Advertiser Garden on the Common.

V-gardeners were not the only ones waiting patiently for warm weather and sunshine. So were the insects and in many cases their attacks have already done serious damage. The insect activity this year leads to the belief that gardeners are in for a busy time keeping the pests under control.

At present the crops planted have had a slow start and are more vulnerable to attack. This means more attention and the gardener must get there ahead of the insect to prevent damage.

It is estimated that insects destroy from 10 to 20 per cent of all crops raised unless some effort is made to check this loss. Much of the trouble is caused by the fact that many insects get established before they are noticed and the damage is so bad that it is impossible to get good control. Cutworm damage, for instance, must be expected and preventative measures used. It is too late after the plant is cut off. Cabbage maggot has done a large amount of damage and the harm was all done before it was noticed. Insects appear at about the same time each year so make notes on when your crops were attacked by certain pests and use this information next year.

543 Australia War Brides Reach U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19 (AP)—The largest single contingent of Australian war brides and their children, 543 in all, have arrived on a converted luxury liner to set foot for the first time on their new homeland.

Only one Yankee husband was on the dock to greet his wife, and the other brides looked envious as M-Sgt. Carroll Craig, now stationed at San Francisco, kissed Mrs. Daphne Craig, whom he hadn't seen in eight months.

Flock to North Shore

COOLING BREEZES from the North Shore. Each day of the heat wave finds more and more socialite families closing up town houses and heading for Beverly Farms or Manchester. Two gala events which will set the summer season off to a good start are the opening of the Casino in Magnolia Friday and the first dinner dance at the Essex County Club a week from Saturday. The Casino has been closed three summers because of the blackout.

Typical of the many wives who are doubling up with their mothers for the duration is attractive Mrs. Lindsay Dexter, who with her young son Bill is with her mother, Mrs. Donald Cassels, and sister, Andree, in Beverly Farms. Her husband is stationed in Italy.

Mrs. Lawrence Lowell Reeve

The Lawrence Lowell Reeves (Eleanor Swift) who have become year-rounders on the shore since buying the large Manchester estate known to the neighbors as The Castle, are looking forward to a busy season, especially since Mr. Reeve's election as commodore of the Manchester Yacht Club to succeed Francis Welch. Many gay activities are planned for the season, including the club's annual water sports carnival for the children, a number of dances and many picnic suppers.

Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Whiting have moved from Beacon st to their seaside house on Smith's Point. Miss Alice Dodge has arrived from Washington to occupy her new house in West Manchester and Mrs. Henry Lancashire has taken the attractive hilltop house of Mrs. William Henry Young for a long season in Beverly Farms.

Aldrich, well known New York banker. Dave's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Devens of Boston and Nahant. He has been in the Pacific area three years.

A gifted pianist, Joan is majoring in music at Connecticut College and recently composed a waltz for the Boston Dubtante Cotillion. She will begin a Nurse's Aide course at Massachusetts General Hospital next Monday.

Bridges to Complete Naturalization

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19 (AP)—Harry Bridges, chief of the CIO Longshoremen's Union, will apply for final citizenship papers as soon as the U. S. dismisses a warrant of arrest against him.

The labor leader announced his plans after learning the Supreme Court had invalidated a deportation order.

'Snafu' Comedy Well Presented

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Snafu," the comedy which derives its title and plot from World War II, is presently amusing Colonial Theater playgoers following 157 Broadway performances under the aegis of Producer-Director George Abbott.

It opened here last night, with Jules J. Leventhal at the producing helm of a new cast and with G. Winfield Smith succeeding the stagewise Abbott as director.

As of last night, everything is kopasetic . . . to lift Bill "Bojangles" Robinson's own coined word for his customarily exultant state of being . . . with the Colonial customers, or the reverse of snafu (see adv.—situation normal all fouled up).

This infectious comedy by screen scripters Louis Solomon and Harold Buchman is concerned with the adjustment to civilian life of a 16-year-old serviceman who has been honorably discharged because of his youth and is subsequently discovered to have displayed unusual courage in South Pacific combat.

Those infallible Abbott touches that the veteran Broadway producer knows so well how to graft onto comedies stemming from youthful dilemmas are contagiously present in this comedy that sounds like a sneeze and plays like a breeze.

Paul Stanley, himself a newly discharged veteran, plays the leading role with conviction and earnest charm. His boyish candor in the face of his parents' vague suspicions and the neighbors' obvious doubts is nicely conveyed. Janet Ward's junior missy next door is as refreshing as last night's cooling zephers.

Pax Walker's exuberant Australian lass whose innocent remarks are miscontrued is overplayed and should improve with some restraint. Jan Sherwood and Matthew Smith turn in satisfying performances as the parents whose reactions range from awe to annoyance in the presence of their returned boy warrior. Grace Kleine, as the invaluable maid-of-all-work, is a comic delight and there are good performances by others too numerous for individual mention.

"Snafu" sometimes takes youth for too much of a merry-go-round but the general good humor on stage somewhat makes up for lapses of sensitivity.

DON'T let Yvonne DeCarlo's demureness fool you. She doesn't wear much more than that look in her sparkling blue eyes in Walter Wanger's Technicolor production, "Salome, Where She Danced," which is to remain a second week on Keith Memorial screen.

Musical Hits Rule

For the first time in the history of the New York theater, every show playing on 44th st., between Broadway and 8th ave., is a hit musical. Not a single dramatic play mars the solid phalanx of song-and-dance items, to wit: "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel," the Guild twin hits of Rodgers and Hammerstein; "Bloomer Girl," "Follow the Girls" and "On the Town."

Emergency

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19 (AP)—Patrolman Frank Pratt answered an emergency call and then made one.

He phoned his wife for instructions while helping deliver a baby boy.

Massachusetts Loan Sales Lag

With only two weeks remaining in the Seventh War Loan drive Massachusetts has barely passed the half-way mark in the effort to raise $140,000,000 from sales of E bonds, Chairman F. W. Dean of the War Finance Committee announced today.

Meanwhile, the state war finance committee announced that E-Bond sales in Massachusetts stood at $80,300,000, or but 57.4 per cent of the quota of $146,000,000, while individual sales were $189,300,000, or 79.5 per cent of a $238,000,000 quota.

E-Bond sales in Greater Boston were $47,209,000, or 56 per cent of the quota of $84,308,000, while total individual sales in this area reached $130,773,000, or 86.7 per cent of the $150,801,000 quota.

Her Lucky Day

SALT LAKE CITY, June 19 (AP)—Mrs. Wanda Carlei, Provo, Utah, sat terror stricken as a train approached her stalled car.

Crossing watchman R. W. McComb ran to the car, jerked open the door and pulled Mrs. Carlei from the car.

A moment later the engine struck the automobile, shoved it 63 feet and dented one door and a fender. Mrs. Carlei climbed in and drove away.

Why We Don't Use War Gases Against the Japs

By AUSTEN LAKE

EVERY U. S. ARMY INTELLIGENCE officer knows that Japan has stocks of poison gases, neatly packaged in shells and bombs and ready for use against our troops. Indeed Japan has already used poison gas in this war. More than 1000 instances have been reported of Lewisite and Mustard attacks on the Chinese. Several such attacks have been recorded on U. S. positions.

Austen Lake

Germany also had enormous quantities of the stuff. In a single day Patton's Third Army captured a dump containing 1,000,000 gas shells, all loaded, piled in orderly rows and ready to be fused. I saw that dump. It was only one of many others.

The reader might well ask, "How does Japan happen to be using Lewisite gas?" Isn't that the "dew of death" invented by American chemists toward the end of the other world war? Isn't that the gas we boasted was so powerful that, when Armistice came, we humanely towed our stocks far out to sea and dumped them on the floor of the ocean? Wasn't that our carefully guarded military secret?

Yes! It is the same American war gas! And the Japs didn't have to steal the formula! The United States presented it to them on a silver salver as a deed of free gift. For in 1919, on the bland assumption that the world would never tolerate another war and hence military secrets were a thing from a barbaric past, the Lewisite formula was made public as a grisly relic from the museum of world madness. A U. S. scientific journal published the full secret much as a famous hotel chef would exchange his favorite recipe for a wine sauce.

★ ★ ★

The Japs Said Silent Thanks!

AMERICANS, BUSY WITH PEACETIME thoughts, didn't pay much attention. But Japan did! Yes, Japan copied the formula and said silent thanks. So some day our soldiers may be getting a sniff of this American invention, just as they have been killed and wounded by U. S.-made, Jap-imported steel and scrap iron and shot down by Jap Zeros motored by American Wright Whirlwinds which, among many other war gadgets, we "lent-leased" the enemy before Pearl Harbor.

But Lewisite isn't the only war gas Japan has waiting in air-tight cylinders. Germany gave her its formula for a new, more virulent vesicant called Nitrogen Mustard—a heavy, blister compound which melts the mucous membranes, dissolves the lungs and penetrates the skin. It is doubly dangerous since it has neither color nor odor.

I might add, and I am able to speak with authority, that our own Chemical Warfare Division has all these gases and several others—ready in bulk and package. Behind the portals of that twin dragon of anonymity, the general staff, considerable pro and con arguments have been going on for months on the propriety of loosing great quantities of the stuff on the Japs. The base of this discussion is the knowledge that war gases would save untold thousands of U. S. soldier lives and shorten the war by many months. I have heard several high ranking U. S. officers, all veterans of the Pacific combat theater, express prayerful anxiety to be allowed to smother the Japs under a rain of mustard. Sure they know the Jap would try to throw it back! But the brown runt couldn't keep pace with our aerial power, fire supremacy and capacity for quantity manufacture.

"Give us the right to use gas," a four-star general told me recently, "and we'll end this war by autumn."

Then what deters the U. S. command from employing this decisive weapon? Neither America nor Japan signed the 1925 Geneva protocol forbidding war gases. Germany, France, England, Russia and Italy did! Yet each of these signatories continued to maintain gas warfare laboratories, and a scant 10 years later Italy dumped large loads of gas on the Abyssinians, spreading it like a bilious green serpent to settle in hollows and lurk there for the unwary, barefoot tribesmen.

★ ★ ★

THE ONE RESTRAINING FORCE that holds our Army command from using war gas is FEAR OF PUBLIC OPINION—apprehension lest our "bleeding hearts," professional humanists and nice nellies ra'r back and scream their larynxes loose at this "latest atavism." Never mind that this war has already developed the most savage instruments of death and destruction known to science. Never mind that the dead no longer care by what instruments they met their fate!

So the Army gold cuffs, so bluff and resolute in most matters, are curiously sensitive to this wing of public opinion. They don't wish to be first to use war gases, though legally entitled to do so. They silently beg, pray and hope that Japan will let loose the initial attack. Meanwhile two things must happen, (1) either many thousands of U. S. soldiers must die needlessly because of queasy public opinion, or (2) public opinion must change.

Certainly logic dictates that neither the Jap nor the Nazi was ever restrained from gas warfare by humanitarian motives. There was only one reason why the Jap and German long ago did not drench our troops and Allied towns with blister gases—fear of overwhelming retribution by our air and artillery. That and that alone!

Pacific combat veterans tell me that if a poll was taken among our soldiery out there it would be overwhelmingly, if not unanimous, for employment of lethal gases. And unquestionably, if civilian America understood that such use would save many American lives and shorten the war, it would vote gas-warfare by a huge majority. For this nation is not bound by Geneva agreement. Legally it could dump a million gas shells on Japan today without breaking any covenants.

I do not advocate! I ask you! What are we waiting for, if by such lawful means we can bring the world's most brutal war against a satanic enemy closer to an end? What are we waiting for, if by speedier extermination of the most savage adversary in human history, we can save many thousands of our own men. Why shouldn't we use the legal tools we possess, to the full hilt? What are we waiting for?

Hausmann Faces Yanks In Twi Game at Fenway

By FRED HOEY

Only 2½ games away from first place as a result of the Detroit 1-0 loss to the White Sox last night, the Red Sox play a twilight game at 5:30 tonight with the New York Yankees. They have an excellent chance of whittling down the existing lead.

Clem Hausmann, who has won three in a row, is nominated to face the Yanks tonight while Ataley Donald or Hank Borowy will be Joe McCarthy's selection.

Clem Hausmann

The recent surge of the Red Sox yielded a 5-4 record over the Eastern clubs. It could very easily have been 7-2. Leads were kicked away against the Yanks and Athletics.

From this observation post the Red Sox have an excellent chance to remain in the pennant fight to the finish. They hold an admirable spot with no first place jitters to worry them.

Manager Joe Cronin plans to shoot Johnny Lazor and Jimmy Bucher at the Yanks. This Lazor boy, summering at Point Shirley, Winthrop, is hitting a cool .381, a figure not to be sneezed at. Johnny will be in right field in place of Pete Fox who is suffering constant pain from abscessed teeth.

Lazor had the honor of assisting the amazing Dave Ferriss to the latter's ninth win when he drove in the tying and winning runs. Lazor has fielded well, too.

Since the great Ferriss went 14 innings Friday night Cronin is saving his freshman ace for part of the doubleheader with the Yanks here tomorrow afternoon. Then, Dave is slated to work one of the games of Sunday's doubleheader against Washington.

When the alert Skeeter Newsome had to quit active play because of an injured leg, he made it possible for Eddie Lake to step into the short field and perform sensationally. In the nine-game road trip Eddie hit two homers, his first in the American League. One of these circuit drives carried 400 feet at the Griffith Stadium Friday night, only the second homer in that exact spot this season. The other was made by Rudy York of the Tigers.

Another happy surprise in the resurgence of the Sox has been the play of Jimmy Bucher at third base. For the time being he is the third sacker, since the extreme heat appears to have Jack Tobin definitely down.

So, this week is most important to the Red Sox. If they can tip over the Yanks and follow with a Washington clean up over the week-end they may be heading the parade. For, as Huck Finnegan is wont to remark "The American League pennant is any body's for the taking."

Eisenhower Watches Tribe Tackle Giants

By BILL GRIMES

NEW YORK, June 19—Accompanied by his official party, his host, Mayor LaGuardia and escorted by a large motorcade, General Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied forces in the E. T. O. was due at the Polo Grounds this afternoon to watch the Braves and Giants present their version of wartime major league baseball.

Since he was a cadet at West Point, Gen. Eisenhower has been an ardent baseball fan. He hasn't seen a big league contest in more than five years. Definitely, he will appreciate what the war has done to the national pastime.

Jim Tobin

In all probability, the attendance record for the Polo Grounds will go by the boards. When he accepted Mayor LaGuardia's invitation to visit Big Town, Gen. Eisenhower expressed a desire to see a ball game. It was a break for the Braves, and, of course, the Giants, that they were listed to play here today. Since last Friday, there has been a steady demand for tickets and the "specs" have disposed of all of the choice seats.

Jim Tobin will get the nod from Bob Coleman this afternoon. "Tobe" beat the Giants 3 to 1 at home a week ago Sunday, allowing them only five hits. He was at his best in that game and if he has his "stuff" today should come up with his sixth win of the campaign.

Like Coleman, Mel Ott is having trouble with his pitching staff. He used eight hurlers against the Phillies Sunday while losing both ends of a twin bill and probably will send Andy Hansen to the mound today.

Nate Andrews and his family went through here yesterday afternoon on their way to Boston. Andrews, who quit the Braves in Chicago two weeks ago and returned to his home at Rowland, N. C., is due to rejoin his mates sometime today. Andrews' decision to "go over the hill" cost the Braves at least three games. They would be right up with the leaders now if he had remained with the club and taken his regular turns on the hilltop.

"I hope to get my pitching corps straightened out before we return home," stated Coleman while en route here last night. "We have only six games to play in the next eight days.

"The success of the Braves is strictly in the laps of our pitchers. We've been getting them enough runs to win but they have not been able to hold the opponents in check. When you lose games in which you score eight runs, you can pass the "buck" to the pitchers and there's nothing they can do but hold it.

"Now that Joe Medwick is with us, we have three .300 power hitters in the outfield. And, I expect to plug up an infield weakness before we return home. If I do and we get some pitching, you watch the Braves' smoke."

The Braves will play a night game against the Giants tomorrow and then move over to Brooklyn for a couple of contests under the lights and a Sunday doubleheader, after laying off Thursday.

Winning Spirit of Sox Can Beat Yanks, Tigers

By JACK CONWAY

THE SKYROCKETING Red Sox will try to maintain their thrilling pennant pace when they oppose the Yankees in a twilight game at Fenway Park at 5:30 p. m. today. The Sox returned from their latest road trip with five wins and a tie in 10 games. Incidentally Dave Ferriss, baseball's most sensational rookie, won his ninth game of the season when he toppled the Senators in 14 innings.

When Ferriss' winning streak was stopped at eight straight there were some pessimistic souls who insisted the former member of the Army Air Corps would lose his magic. This writer, however, felt that Ferriss would pitch even better once the strain of running out a consecutive string of victories had been halted. Ferriss then came back to score his 14-inning triumph over the Senators.

Joe Cronin

Joe Cronin had originally planned to use Ferriss in the opening game of the series against the Yankees, but he wisely decided not to do so when Dave was obliged to travel extra innings to defeat the Senators in a game last Friday night.

Cronin had previously refused to work Ferriss in a Sunday game because he felt his crack pitcher needed an additional day of rest. It is pleasing to find Cronin, who has the backing of Owner Tom Yawkey and General Manager Eddie Collins placing the long range future of a rookie ahead of immediate dollars.

Cronin announced Clem Hausmana will face the Yankees in the twilight clash, and it is expected the latter will give a creditable account of himself.

★ ★ ★

Ferriss on Wednesday

FERRISS WILL be sent into action tomorrow when the Sox oppose the Yankees in a twin bill. With fair weather, the Sox should draw a large crowd tonight and a banner gathering tomorrow.

Joe Cronin has developed a fighting ball club and it has gained amazing results. The Sox are only two and one-half games behind the league-leading Tigers and only a game and a half behind Joe McCarthy's Yankees.

If the Sox win the twilight tilt and the first game tomorrow, they will be in second place and thundering on the heels of the Tigers.

The records show that after losing eight straight games at the start of the season that the Sox won 27 out of 43 games. This established a 1945 mark for other American League clubs to shoot at. If the Sox can maintain this same pace, they will soon move into first place.

It would be a new one for the book if Joe Cronin were to win his first American League pennant in Boston in a year when none of the noble experts figured his club had much of a chance to distinguish itself.

★ ★ ★

Subs Become Regulars

CRONIN HAS made it clear that every job with his ball club is open to the player who can show the most ability.

As a result of Cronin's policy, Johnny Lazor will play right field against the Yankees in place of Pete Fox, while Jimmy Bucher will continue to hold down Jack Tobin's berth at third base. Lazor took over Fox's duties when the latter was troubled with abscessed teeth, while Bucher stepped in for Tobin when the latter was bothered by the heat in Washington.

Lazor and Bucher have been hitting the old agate hard and fielding their positions well. Joe Cronin believes in keeping a winning combination on the firing line.

Winning ball clubs have a habit of producing a needed star in an emergency. Ordinary players become imbued with the idea they can play beyond their capabilities, and they go on and prove they are right. As long as the Sox maintain this victory spirit they are going to be a hard club to beat.

Joe Cronin and Dave Ferriss have done much to keep this winning spark alive.

Prelate Attends

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing will attend his first boxing show at Fenway Park next Monday evening when the Goodwin A. C. presents an all-star card of four 10-round bouts for the Christopher Columbus Catholic High School Fund, which is sponsored by the archbishop.

His Excellency also purchased 100 tickets for the show and will have among his guests disabled and wounded veterans of World War II, who are hospitalized in this area.

Ike to See Braves-Giants

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP) —Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will play the role of baseball fan today by attending the Giants-Boston game at the Polo Grounds.

No special ceremony was planned because, an official said, "the general wants to enjoy a ball game exclusive of everything else."

Holmes Holds Lead With .385

The stars of the major league hitting parade remain the same but the supporting cast is entirely different this week with Tommy Holmes of Boston the hero for the National League, and Tony Cuccinello of Chicago for the American loop.

Using games through Sunday as their script, Holmes and Cuccinello retained their league leaderships while the remainder of the big 10 in each circuit underwent a wild shakeup, according to the Associated Press.

Holmes dropped a lone point to .385, still the best aggregate in the majors. Cuccinello skidded two points to .347 for the best in the American League.

Whitey Kurowski of the St. Louis Cards is the runner-up to Holmes, although his .357 average is off a point from that of a week ago. Mel Ott of New York dropped from second to third when his average sank from .371 to .354.

Nick Etten of the Yankees saw 10 points melt from his total, but his remaining .328 was good enough to keep Bobby Estalella of Philadelphia third with .321.

Reiser on New Army Assignment

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 19 (AP) — The Camp Livingston Blues lose their captain and leading hitter tomorrow.

Sgt. Pete Reiser, who won the 1941 National League batting title while holding down center field for the Brooklyn Dodgers, will play his last game for the Blues when they meet Barksdale Field in a million-dollar war bond game in Shreveport.

Reiser will leave for a new assignment with Army Special Services to take part in the Army's expanding athletic program.

Park League Has 2 Games Billed

Two games are listed on tonight's Park Department schedule —McCarthy Club meeting the Linehan Club at the South Boston Stadium and the Hicks Engineers and the Hal Crosby Club playing a return engagement at Healy Field in Roslindale.

With all of the seven teams entered in the league set on their rosters, a keener competition especially between the newer clubs is expected.

The Hicks Engineers, after experimenting the first few weeks of play, finally settled on a nine that was good enough to knock off the surging Crosby Club last night at the Fens Stadium

The Linehan Club, after losing their ace pitcher Joe Reardon to the Braves yesterday, will be hard pressed to gain a win against the young McCarthy Club who are at full strength.
